REFLECTIONS

From the Desk of Fr. Mark

A Courageous Christian: Reflection on Prophet Jeremiah

Whenever the church talks about courageous prophet, one name that predominantly comes to mind is prophet Jeremiah. First, let us see a synopsis of prophet Jeremiah. He was called to the prophetic office at the age of 23. He prophesied in Jerusalem during the most critical period of Judah's history. He spoke fearlessly against the abuses in the temple, and disloyalty of the people. As a result, he was called a prophet of doom. The unbelievers laughed at Jeremiah. [Jer. 20:7]. The kings, priests, and people were more interested in politics that in their God. They had been made subject to Babylon and had to pay and an annual tax to this foreign power. They were engaged in political intrigue with Egypt whose help they sought to set them free. Jeremiah opposed this political scheme, foreseeing that Egypt would not help and that rebellion would bring nothing but the devastation of Judah and exile for its people. As a result, they plotted against him so that they could silence him [Jer. 20:10]. Frustrated with the people who lived in sin, Jeremiah decided to keep quiet, to stop talking on behalf of the God [Jer. 20:9]. Consequently, the Lord implanted in the heart of Jeremiah the eternal dishonor that awaits all those who reject the Lord. Jeremiah was burning with such an intense fire within his heart that he could no longer withhold the warnings of the Lord. [Jer. 20:9]. He had to speak up on behalf of the Lord. Gathering his strength so he would not face eternal dishonor, [Jer. 20:11]. Jeremiah placed his complete trust in the Lord [Jer. 20:13]. Upset that Jeremiah was speaking up again on behalf of the Lord, the wicked people tried to trick him, hoping to get his downfall so they could get their revenge.

This is the same kind of whispering that was expressed against Jesus when He spoke up against the evil of the people. Has the evil stopped? Absolutely no! While many Christians try to put out the light because it exposes corruption, dishonesty, oppression, and lust, others fight and work tirelessly to dampen and discourage their spirit. This is what is predominant in every facet of our society today - politics, academia, religion- name it.

My beloved friends in Christ if the world of Jeremiah and Jesus tried to suppress the truth and were more intrigue in political maneuver in their time, know it today that our world has all, within its arsenal, the power and political sophistication to manipulate more, and suppress the truth more. Yet, God is calling you and I to be bearers (courageous Christians) of His truth to our ever-changing and complex world. We are called to task, namely, to bring moral and spiritual civility to our world; a world that promotes justice and love rather than division, regardless of race, politics, and ideological diversities.

Jeremiah was a thorn in the side of the wicked king and princes, whose ambitions were earthly power and prosperity. These ambitions he roundly and ceaselessly condemned. Therefore, we must admire Jeremiah, the courageous prophet of God, who tried to save his fellow-Jews from their own folly.

Shalom, we are family.

Who is Jesus to Us? Grasping His Messiahship

We should not be surprised at the slowness of the Apostles in grasping the Messiahship of Jesus. First, Jesus did not want the crowds who flocked to him to know this until later – after his resurrection – because they had the idea that the Messiah would be a political leader who would set them free from their subjection to pagan Rome. It was not until this occasion, near Caesarea Philippi, somewhat over a year after he had called them, that he admitted to his Apostles that he was the Messiah. He charged them not to make this fact known outside of their own limited circle. To foretell and erase any wrong ideas of a political leader which some of the Apostles might have, he immediately foretold the sufferings and death he would have to endure at the hands of the leaders of the Jews. He would be conquered and humiliated by his enemies, but their victory would be short-lived.

To the Apostles this seemed incredible and Peter, their spokesman, told him so. This outlook of the Apostles is also very understandable. They had seen him work many miracles, God was evidently very near to him: how could God let his enemies humiliate and kill him? They did not know God's plan; they were fishermen and knew little if anything of the Old Testament messianic prophecies.

However, we are in the happy position of the Apostles after the resurrection of Jesus. We know how much God loves us; we appreciate the humiliation that the incarnation brought on his beloved Son and the sufferings and cruel death which the sins of the world, ours included, brought on the Son of God. All these took place because of God's plan for our salvation. Therefore, for a faithful and grateful Christian, theoretical appreciation is not enough. Atonement has been made for our sins, but we have still a very important part to play. While our sins can be forgiven, we must truly repent of them before God will forgive them.

Shalom! We are family.

Fr. Mark

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

One of the most memorable images from the pontificate of Pope John Paul II is not his shocked expression as he is hit by a bullet, but rather his tender meeting with his assailant, and his forgiveness. It is far more compelling because, although people are struck by bullets every day, true reconciliation is in relatively short supply. An outside observer might list attempting to kill the pope as an unforgiveable sin, but of course we know that forgiveness of sin is woven deeply into our tradition of living as Christ did.

Interestingly enough, the Church took a hard line on these matters early on. Until the second century, people expected Christ's return in the near future, so they deferred judgment to him. Soon, however, bishops began to grant forgiveness for sin after baptism, but only once. What we know as the sacrament of penance takes its life from Jesus' work of reconciliation, but just as scripture shows Jesus forgiving people in one life□changing encounter, so the church granted one chance only. Great sins were the target, such as idolatry, adultery, and murder. Penance was lengthy, difficult, and public, and the bishop was in charge of the process. For the next several weeks, we'll look at subsequent creative and helpful changes in the celebration of this sacrament.

CATHOLIC NEIGHBORS IN FAITH

Christian greetings,

I wish to express my thanks and appreciation to you all. This community of faith has been such a joy to experience, and your cordial and friendly interactions have made this summer assignment to the Southern Tier a moment of delight.

During my time here, I had the pleasure of joining Fr. Paul Cygan at the Franciscan University of Steubenville, where we attended a Priest, Deacon, and Seminarian retreat. I had a great time with Fr. Paul in the rectory, having movie nights and refreshments in the backyard of the Sacred Heart rectory. I also had the opportunity to share Mass with you all at all of the parishes in the family and enjoy a meal or coffee with many of you. The hospitality expressed by the clergy, staff, and people of this congregation depicts what I believe the renewal aims to build: a real community around our Catholic faith.

A few highlights of this assignment have been giving reflections at the evening Mass on Wednesdays at St. James. I thank you for listening to my ramblings and taking to heart some of the things I shared. I especially thank you for the good feedback on those reflections. This will be an important part of my future priestly ministry, and your help, feedback, and words of encouragement truly support me in my ongoing formation. Another highlight was helping out at the Vacation Bible Schools, both in Randolph and at Sacred Heart. Seeing the youth of the parish learn and experience their faith in a fun and jovial environment is the hope of our Church, and it was an honor to help create a positive experience for them. While there have been many other great experiences, another I would like to elevate was Morning Star. Fr. Paul's ministry with a Children's Holy Hour was a new experience for me, and it has given me inspiration for future ministry. The way the children experienced both Our Lord in the Eucharist and Our Lady in the rosary was beautiful to see. Thank you for sharing these experiences with me. I still feel as if I am "jumping up and down, shouting Hosanna!"

Finally, I wish to express my thanks to the faithful in the pews. Our church would not be Church without your prayer, dedication, and faith. The faith is strong in Jamestown, and it is in part because of your participation with the Holy Spirit, even if it is hard to see at times. We saw how the Corpus Christi procession and Italian festival brought many from the community to the Church.

Please continue to pray for all the seminarians and me. If you wish to send correspondence or care packages to me or any of the seminarians, please leave letters or packages with the office at St. James, with the name of the recipient and a return address. St. James will make sure it is sent to the correct addresses.

Dio vi benedica, amici miei,

Joseph Graham
Seminarian, Diocese of Buffalo

SAINT OF THE WEEK - August 27

SAINT MONICA (332-387)

She had smiles for the neighbors, though her husband found her religion and the charity it inspired annoying. She made tearful prayers in private for a son, outwardly self-assured but, as his mother knew, inwardly restless, and whose girlfriend of a dozen years had borne his child out of wedlock. Though not the first or last such mother and son, Monica and Augustine are the Church's most famous, so we keep their feast days back to back, with Monica's, fittingly, first.

To Rome she followed Augustine, then to Milan, where years of prayer—and nagging—finally bore fruit in his conversion by Saint Ambrose. For six months, mother and son enjoyed the blessing of rediscovering each other. Just in time! On the way home to North Africa, Monica took sick and died near Rome. No child who has mourned a parent can read, unmoved, Augustine's tender account, in his Confessions, of Monica's last days. At this time of the year, when parents watch apprehensively as children leave for school, may Monica's perseverance and Augustine's long-prayed-for conversion ease anxiety and kindle hope. Peter Scagnelli

Vocation News:

"I Will build my church and the gates of the netherworld will not prevail against it." Jesus promises in Mt 16:18 that His Church will always exist. But we also want it to thrive, and that requires people to step forth into roles of ministry. Could it be you? Contact Fr. Dave Baker at 716.847.5535 or visit buffalovocations.org.
